Permission to access client records older than 75 years from date of last action may be given with Melbourne Citymission permission.

HISTORICAL*NOTE:

In the context of the goldrush social disruption, the MCM was founded in 1855, with impetus from the philanthropist Dr John Singleton and from Mrs Hornbrook's Ladies' City Mission. With the motto "Need not Creed", it is governed by a committee comprising Church, business and professional people, and describes itself as 'an inter-denominational (or unsectarian, Christian) Institute ... operating amongst the poor outside the Churches'. In 1900 it became obvious that the Melbourne City Mission could render much more effective service to the community if it could establish homes suited to the needs of various types of people contacted by visitation. Subsequently the Brunswick Pre-Maternity Home, Toddlers' Home, The Haven of Hope (1926-1954), Swinborn Lodge, Pilgrims' Rest and Judge Book Memorial Village were established.
